

WILL TALK TO THEM

Grover Will Visit Ann Arbor
Washington's Birthday.

HE WAS CAUGHT BY DIPLOMACY

But Like a Bird in the Bush May be Frightened Away Yet—News of the Two Peninsulas.

ANN ARBOR, Jan. 24.—There is a little doubt that the citizens of Ann Arbor and the students of the university are at last to have the opportunity to see and hear a man for whom they have the greatest respect and who will create in them more American enthusiasm than any other man on this broad republic. That man is ex-President Grover Cleveland, and the probability now is that this honored American will deliver the annual address in commemoration of Washington's birthday, before the students of the law department on the 22d of next month.

The committees having the selection of a speaker in charge will neither affirm or deny that Mr. Cleveland accepted, but there is little doubt but that he has done so, as the committee say they will have everything arranged for a public announcement on Wednesday next.

Don M. is the King Bee.

Several attempts have been made before to induce the ex-president to deliver an address at the university. The officials did their best to secure his attendance during the semi-centennial celebration, and another effort was made by the law students to secure him for the annual address in 1889, but both of these invitations he was obliged to decline. The committee this year made up their minds to secure him if it was a possible thing, and they pursued a different course than their predecessors had. They enlisted President Angell in their cause, and, as he is a personal friend of the ex-president and one of his appointees, his influence was of weight. But they went farther than this and secured the assistance of the Hon. Don M. Dickinson, the one man that could induce him to come to Michigan university if anybody could. Mr. Dickinson took a personal interest in the matter, and made a personal call upon Mr. Cleveland to induce him to deliver this address. The result of the conference is not yet made public, but the general opinion is that it was satisfactory, and that during the week the committee will make their announcement that ex-President Cleveland will deliver the address.

Grover Has Accepted.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 24.—Grover Cleveland has accepted the invitation to deliver the annual address on Washington's birthday, under the auspices of the law students of the university.

HAUNTED BY HIS VICTIMS.

Terrible Experience of William Coulter.

SATLE STE. MARIE, Jan. 24.—William Coulter, in jail here for perjury in swearing falsely that he killed his father in self-defense, subsequently confessing the truth at a religious revival, tells the most hair-raising tales about being haunted after he committed the murder. Himself and wife tried to sleep in the house, but unseen hands tore the covers from the bed and threw the lamp violently to the floor, while spectral voices were about the air with direct threats. With two stout-hearted men Coulter tried again to spend a night in the accursed house. The horrible manifestations were renewed and the party fled in terror. The Coulter family is an unfortunate one. The mother of the murderer died insane in the poor house. Her reason is said to have fled when her son struck her in a rage. The prosecutor says the fact that Coulter has been once tried does not prevent his pleading guilty to murder if he wishes to do so. The man will probably be examined as to his sanity.

Shameless Disgrace of the Dead.

PORT HURON, Jan. 24.—A disgraceful quarrel occurred at Memphis over the body of George Shepherd, killed in the woods last Friday. Two bearers appeared at the station to meet the train on which the remains were brought home, one bearing being in charge of the father and the other of the brother of the dead man. When the coffin was brought from the train Shepherd and his son fell to wrangling. The father directed the bearers to place the casket in his hearse, and the brother to do so when the son interfered. "These horses," he shouted boisterously, "have bells on them and I won't have bells at my brother's funeral. I want you to understand that this is no picnic." Spectators finally interfered and stopped the outrageous conduct.

Traffic in Young Girls.

PORT HURON, Jan. 24.—Charles Frochman and William Vick of London, Ont., arrived in the city Thursday with two pretty girls by the names of White. The entire party put up at a leading hotel as married couples. Yesterday the men induced the girls to enter a notorious house to lead lives of shame. The police heard of the affair and arrested the entire party. The girls are sisters and belong to a respectable family of Ingersoll. They confess that they ran away from home at the instigation of the young men.

Taken to the Supreme Court.

PENTWATER, Jan. 24.—Carl Schrader and John Kliffman, neighbors, have always been more or less hostile for years. Schrader went over to mop the earth with Kliffman one day and being hard pressed shied a rock at his enemy. Kliffman dodged and the missile struck his little daughter, Katie Kliffman, 5 years old. The child was badly injured and Schrader was prosecuted. He was found guilty of assault, but has taken his grievances to the supreme court.

Earnings of Michigan Railways.

LANSING, Jan. 23.—The statement of earnings of the Michigan railroads for the month of October, issued by the commissioner today, gives the following figures: Earnings for the month, $9,338,432.37. Increase over corresponding month in 1890, $677,526.75. Total earnings for the year, $1,189,171.40. Increase over the same period in 1890, $1,821,411.59. Percent of increase, 2.33.

Wants Big Damages.

LANSING, Jan. 23.—Mrs. Esther J. Tobias, living south of the city, began a $10,000 damage suit against the Michigan Central railroad yesterday. Her husband, John Tobias, was killed by a passenger train while crossing the company's track last October.

Death of Robert Heaton.

BLOOMING GROVE, Jan. 24.—Robert Heaton, aged 31, died this morning from old age. Mr. Heaton settled near Newaygo in 1887 and moved to Blooming Grove in 1878. The remains will be interred at Big Prairie, Newaygo county, Tuesday.

MADE A GREAT FIND

Wonderful Machine Unearthed
by the Police.

IT TURNS OUT DOLLAR BILLS

The Most Clever Counterfeiting Device on
Record Sets the Entire Police
Force in Commotion.

Police Detective Darr accidentally unearthed one of the most remarkable machines in existence last Saturday. It was nothing more or less than a device for grinding out dollar certificates, crisp and new, of the latest series, so perfect in every detail that the banks in the city readily took them and gave in return hard coin, either gold or silver. The paper used bears the well-known Kenesaw water-mark. In appearance the contrivance is simple and does not disclose its wonderful powers. The foundation is a common block of wood about six inches in circumference, with two posts on each side, and a strip of nickel plated brass on the top attaching one to the other. Just below the outside with black cloth. Through the right hand post protrudes two pieces of steel, to either of which a crank or key can be attached. The white paper is fed in the front and slowly the astonished eye observes a dollar bill emerge, printed a dark green on one side and a light gray on the other, with the brown stamp, or government seal, standing out in bold relief. It was some time before the workings of this innocent patent was learned, but once known, dollar after dollar was turned out like washing out of a wringer. Like magic the anticipations and ambitions of the officers arose.

Entire Force Put on the Case.

The next thing to be accomplished was the apprehension of the inventor, person or persons in whose possession the dyes and machine had been, and to detect some one circulating the spurious, but apparently genuine substitutes for silver dollar certificates.

Apprehending that unless instantaneous and combined action was taken there was a possibility of the smooth counterfeiter making his escape, all the officers on the force, one by one, from the superintendent down, was taken into the private office and full explanations made. The first was Detective Smith. He could not repress his admiration for the unknown man who had turned out such a master piece. To think that within the compass of two small rollers could be placed dyes so absolutely correct in every detail was more than he could understand. The artist who cut them must have been a genius, and the printing of five distinct colors at one impression—oh, it was great and no mistake. Joe resolved to work out the mystery and cover himself with glory. He was already recognized as a sleuth of considerable merit—but wait. Detective Gast and Jackaway, then Sergeant Webb and Conlan, as fast as they reported, took their turns. Each left the private office with the strictest secrecy. They were cautioned against imparting what they had heard and seen even to their fellow officers, but to keep their eyes open and capture the elusive individual. The police reporters were perplexed when they witnessed so many guardians of the peace leaving headquarters with stealthy tread and mysterious look. "What was in the wind?" was the question they asked one another.

Sergeant Conlan's Furtive Chase.

Sergeant Conlan was seen to call Captain Johnson aside and whisper. "If I can be of any assistance I will not go home today." That settled it. Sergeant Conlan was shadowed, but the reporter was frozen out after the sergeant watched him block up the memorial hours without any sensational developments. Every policeman on the beat was accosted, but positively refused to divulge the slightest inkling of that something which was exciting the entire police department. Then, probably thinking that the new-gatchers might be of material assistance, Lieutenant Hurley called them in.

Reporters Sworn to Secrecy.

"Before I say a word," said the lieutenant, "do you solemnly promise that you will not publish what is told you until the thing is ripe?"

"We do, sir," he was answered with one accord.

After a few explanatory remarks, and the assurance that the doors and windows were closed and every crevice plugged, Detective Darr ground out several dollars while the eyes of his spectators stuck out like peeled Vermont onions.

"That's our latest find," he remarked, when sufficient time had been given for the surprise created to wear away. "I concluded to try them, and I have thanked God daily since then that I did so. I used them for about three months, and by that time was completely cured and have never had any trouble since."

Must Have More Room.

In order to meet the increased demand for the Chase Bros. Pianos and to carry a complete assortment of all styles in rosewood, ebony, walnut and mahogany, and having just received a large shipment from our factory, to make room for them, we are offering greater bargains than ever made in the musical merchandise line.

All new goods to select from. No damaged stock. Banners, violins, guitars, accordions, harmonicas, at a great discount. We must have room for our large stock of pianos and will reduce our stock of small musical merchandise by offering these goods at greatly reduced prices.

CHASE BROS. PIANO CO.,
32 Monroe street.

Good Excuse.

Better than none. Our competitors are making lots of excuses just now to help sales. The quantity and quality of Hartman's stock of pianos, organs and musical merchandise, and sheet music speaks for itself, and the prices are all of the lowest. Call and be convinced.

One or a Day.

Twenty-five second-hand organs will be closed out as quickly as possible at J. A. J. Friedrich's music house, Nos. 30 and 32 Canal street. All are in good repair and those wishing a good instrument, at a low figure, should call at once.

Remenyi, Violinist.

In concert at Hartman's hall Friday, the 29th, Behr's piano is highly praised by Remenyi, and is sold only at Hartman's music house, Nos. 30 and 32 Canal street. Call and examine these fine instruments.

Second Hand Organs.

A lot of 25, all in good repair, can be seen at the music house of J. A. J. Friedrich. Now is the time to purchase a good instrument at very low figures. You will miss an opportunity by not calling on us should you want an instrument of this kind.

Frank Chapin is well known as a first-class restaurant keeper and a successful business man, but who would ever think of visiting Chapin's to buy a piano? If you did he would probably send you to Hartman's new music house on Ottawa street.

Small Profits.

Hartman believes in quick sales and small profits. Specially is this true regarding square pianos and second-hand organs, Nos. 31 to 100 Ottawa street is the place and you will surely purchase if you bring a little cash with you to make the first payment.

Adulterated Wine.

Is injurious, but nothing gives strength like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color, is particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in quart bottles, for one dollar, while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get Royal Ruby, $1 in quart bottles only. Sold by White & White.

Try Jackson's $2 cabinets.

At the Turkish Bath every Tuesday afternoon and evening and Friday forenoon reserved for ladies, corner Monroe and Ionia streets. Mr. LaBoursier, proprietor.

If You Want to Go.

To any point in Michigan, or from anywhere in Michigan to any point in the East, South, or West, you will almost invariably find the direct route to be the Michigan Central, whose numerous branch lines traverse the state in every direction, and whose great main line is "The Niagara Falls Road" from Chicago and Detroit, and New York, Boston and the East.

No railroad runs finer or faster trains is more solidly constructed and vigilantly operated, so that its time schedules can be depended upon, and a remarkable immunity from serious accident is secured.

No other road runs directly by and in full view of Niagara Falls, when at Falls View its day trains stop five minutes to give passengers the most comprehensive view of the falls and river that is afforded from any single point.

No other road from the East runs directly by and in full view of the colossal buildings of the World's Columbian Exposition, and enters Chicago along the beautiful lake front to its "The Niagara Falls Road" from Chicago and Detroit, and New York, Boston and the East.

No other road has a finer or more complete through car system, running to all points upon its own line and to points beyond—New York, Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Duluth, San Francisco.

For any specific information desired, address J. E. HALL, Michigan Passenger Agent, Jackson, Mich.

Every sack of LILLY WHITE FLOUR has a picture of our mill. None genuine without it. VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.

Rigs & Shattuck are prepared to give sleigh rides in their mammoth moving vans.

Are you going this week? The immense sale of overcoats—1, 1 and 1 off.

Peckham's Croup Remedy cures whooping cough.

Studley & Barclay

Will sell you a full line of rubber goods, but you must go to Hartman's for pianos and musical merchandise and sheet music.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winkler's Scurvy Syrup has been used for children. It soothes the child, cures the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

How to Cure All Skin Diseases.

Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT". No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT.

MADE A GREAT FIND

Wonderful Machine Unearthed
by the Police.

IT TURNS OUT DOLLAR BILLS

The Most Clever Counterfeiting Device on
Record Sets the Entire Police
Force in Commotion.

Police Detective Darr accidentally unearthed one of the most remarkable machines in existence last Saturday. It was nothing more or less than a device for grinding out dollar certificates, crisp and new, of the latest series, so perfect in every detail that the banks in the city readily took them and gave in return hard coin, either gold or silver. The paper used bears the well-known Kenesaw water-mark. In appearance the contrivance is simple and does not disclose its wonderful powers. The foundation is a common block of wood about six inches in circumference, with two posts on each side, and a strip of nickel plated brass on the top attaching one to the other. Just below the outside with black cloth. Through the right hand post protrudes two pieces of steel, to either of which a crank or key can be attached. The white paper is fed in the front and slowly the astonished eye observes a dollar bill emerge, printed a dark green on one side and a light gray on the other, with the brown stamp, or government seal, standing out in bold relief. It was some time before the workings of this innocent patent was learned, but once known, dollar after dollar was turned out like washing out of a wringer. Like magic the anticipations and ambitions of the officers arose.

Entire Force Put on the Case.

The next thing to be accomplished was the apprehension of the inventor, person or persons in whose possession the dyes and machine had been, and to detect some one circulating the spurious, but apparently genuine substitutes for silver dollar certificates.

Apprehending that unless instantaneous and combined action was taken there was a possibility of the smooth counterfeiter making his escape, all the officers on the force, one by one, from the superintendent down, was taken into the private office and full explanations made. The first was Detective Smith. He could not repress his admiration for the unknown man who had turned out such a master piece. To think that within the compass of two small rollers could be placed dyes so absolutely correct in every detail was more than he could understand. The artist who cut them must have been a genius, and the printing of five distinct colors at one impression—oh, it was great and no mistake. Joe resolved to work out the mystery and cover himself with glory. He was already recognized as a sleuth of considerable merit—but wait. Detective Gast and Jackaway, then Sergeant Webb and Conlan, as fast as they reported, took their turns. Each left the private office with the strictest secrecy. They were cautioned against imparting what they had heard and seen even to their fellow officers, but to keep their eyes open and capture the elusive individual. The police reporters were perplexed when they witnessed so many guardians of the peace leaving headquarters with stealthy tread and mysterious look. "What was in the wind?" was the question they asked one another.

Sergeant Conlan's Furtive Chase.

Sergeant Conlan was seen to call Captain Johnson aside and whisper. "If I can be of any assistance I will not go home today." That settled it. Sergeant Conlan was shadowed, but the reporter was frozen out after the sergeant watched him block up the memorial hours without any sensational developments. Every policeman on the beat was accosted, but positively refused to divulge the slightest inkling of that something which was exciting the entire police department. Then, probably thinking that the new-gatchers might be of material assistance, Lieutenant Hurley called them in.

Reporters Sworn to Secrecy.

"Before I say a word," said the lieutenant, "do you solemnly promise that you will not publish what is told you until the thing is ripe?"

"We do, sir," he was answered with one accord.

After a few explanatory remarks, and the assurance that the doors and windows were closed and every crevice plugged, Detective Darr ground out several dollars while the eyes of his spectators stuck out like peeled Vermont onions.

"That's our latest find," he remarked, when sufficient time had been given for the surprise created to wear away. "I concluded to try them, and I have thanked God daily since then that I did so. I used them for about three months, and by that time was completely cured and have never had any trouble since."

Must Have More Room.

In order to meet the increased demand for the Chase Bros. Pianos and to carry a complete assortment of all styles in rosewood, ebony, walnut and mahogany, and having just received a large shipment from our factory, to make room for them, we are offering greater bargains than ever made in the musical merchandise line.

All new goods to select from. No damaged stock. Banners, violins, guitars, accordions, harmonicas, at a great discount. We must have room for our large stock of pianos and will reduce our stock of small musical merchandise by offering these goods at greatly reduced prices.

CHASE BROS. PIANO CO.,
32 Monroe street.

Good Excuse.

Better than none. Our competitors are making lots of excuses just now to help sales. The quantity and quality of Hartman's stock of pianos, organs and musical merchandise, and sheet music speaks for itself, and the prices are all of the lowest. Call and be convinced.

One or a Day.

Twenty-five second-hand organs will be closed out as quickly as possible at J. A. J. Friedrich's music house, Nos. 30 and 32 Canal street. All are in good repair and those wishing a good instrument, at a low figure, should call at once.

Remenyi, Violinist.

In concert at Hartman's hall Friday, the 29th, Behr's piano is highly praised by Remenyi, and is sold only at Hartman's music house, Nos. 30 and 32 Canal street. Call and examine these fine instruments.

Second Hand Organs.

A lot of 25, all in good repair, can be seen at the music house of J. A. J. Friedrich. Now is the time to purchase a good instrument at very low figures. You will miss an opportunity by not calling on us should you want an instrument of this kind.

Frank Chapin is well known as a first-class restaurant keeper and a successful business man, but who would ever think of visiting Chapin's to buy a piano? If you did he would probably send you to Hartman's new music house on Ottawa street.

Small Profits.

Hartman believes in quick sales and small profits. Specially is this true regarding square pianos and second-hand organs, Nos. 31 to 100 Ottawa street is the place and you will surely purchase if you bring a little cash with you to make the first payment.

Adulterated Wine.

Is injurious, but nothing gives strength like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color, is particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in quart bottles, for one dollar, while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get Royal Ruby, $1 in quart bottles only. Sold by White & White.

Try Jackson's $2 cabinets.

At the Turkish Bath every Tuesday afternoon and evening and Friday forenoon reserved for ladies, corner Monroe and Ionia streets. Mr. LaBoursier, proprietor.

If You Want to Go.

To any point in Michigan, or from anywhere in Michigan to any point in the East, South, or West, you will almost invariably find the direct route to be the Michigan Central, whose numerous branch lines traverse the state in every direction, and whose great main line is "The Niagara Falls Road" from Chicago and Detroit, and New York, Boston and the East.

No railroad runs finer or faster trains is more solidly constructed and vigilantly operated, so that its time schedules can be depended upon, and a remarkable immunity from serious accident is secured.

No other road runs directly by and in full view of Niagara Falls, when at Falls View its day trains stop five minutes to give passengers the most comprehensive view of the falls and river that is afforded from any single point.

No other road from the East runs directly by and in full view of the colossal buildings of the World's Columbian Exposition, and enters Chicago along the beautiful lake front to its "The Niagara Falls Road" from Chicago and Detroit, and New York, Boston and the East.

No other road has a finer or more complete through car system, running to all points upon its own line and to points beyond—New York, Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Duluth, San Francisco.

For any specific information desired, address J. E. HALL, Michigan Passenger Agent, Jackson, Mich.

Every sack of LILLY WHITE FLOUR has a picture of our mill. None genuine without it. VALLEY CITY MILLING CO.

Rigs & Shattuck are prepared to give sleigh rides in their mammoth moving vans.

Are you going this week? The immense sale of overcoats—1, 1 and 1 off.

Peckham's Croup Remedy cures whooping cough.

Studley & Barclay

Will sell you a full line of rubber goods, but you must go to Hartman's for pianos and musical merchandise and sheet music.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winkler's Scurvy Syrup has been used for children. It soothes the child, cures the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

How to Cure All Skin Diseases.

Simply apply "SWAYNE'S OINTMENT". No internal medicine required. Cures tetter, eczema, itch, all eruptions on the face, hands, nose, etc., leaving the skin clear, white and healthy. Its great healing and curative powers are possessed by no other remedy. Ask your druggist for SWAYNE'S OINTMENT.

MADE A GREAT FIND

Wonderful Machine Unearthed
by the Police.

IT TURNS OUT DOLLAR BILLS

The Most Clever Counterfeiting Device on
Record Sets the Entire Police
Force in Commotion.

Police Detective Darr accidentally unearthed one of the most remarkable machines in existence last Saturday. It was nothing more or less than a device for grinding out dollar certificates, crisp and new, of the latest series, so perfect in every detail that the banks in the city readily took them and gave in return hard coin, either gold or silver. The paper used bears the well-known Kenesaw water-mark. In appearance the contrivance is simple and does not disclose its wonderful powers. The foundation is a common block of wood about six inches in circumference, with two posts on each side, and a strip of nickel plated brass on the top attaching one to the other. Just below the outside with black cloth. Through the right hand post protrudes two pieces of steel, to either of which a crank or key can be attached. The white paper is fed in the front and slowly the astonished eye observes a dollar bill emerge, printed a dark green on one side and a light gray on the other, with the brown stamp, or government seal, standing out in bold relief. It was some time before the workings of this innocent patent was learned, but once known, dollar after dollar was turned out like washing out of a wringer. Like magic the anticipations and ambitions of the officers arose.

Entire Force Put on the Case.

The next thing to be accomplished was the apprehension of the inventor, person or persons in whose possession the dyes and machine had been, and to detect some one circulating the spurious, but apparently genuine substitutes for silver dollar certificates.

Apprehending that unless instantaneous and combined action was taken there was a possibility of the smooth counterfeiter making his escape, all the officers on the force, one by one, from the superintendent down, was taken into the private office and full explanations made. The first was Detective Smith. He could not repress his admiration for the unknown man who had turned out such a master piece. To think that within the compass of two small rollers could be placed dyes so absolutely correct in every detail was more than he could understand. The artist who cut them must have been a genius, and the printing of five distinct colors at one impression—oh, it was great and no mistake. Joe resolved to work out the mystery and cover himself with glory. He was already recognized as a sleuth of considerable merit—but wait. Detective Gast and Jackaway, then Sergeant Webb and Conlan, as fast as they reported, took their turns. Each left the private office with the strictest secrecy. They were cautioned against imparting what they had heard and seen even to their fellow officers, but to keep their eyes open and capture the elusive individual. The police reporters were perplexed when they witnessed so many guardians of the peace leaving headquarters with stealthy tread and mysterious look. "What was in the wind?" was the question they asked one another.

Sergeant Conlan's Furtive Chase.

Sergeant Conlan was seen to call Captain Johnson aside and whisper. "If I can be of any assistance I will not go home today." That settled it. Sergeant Conlan was shadowed, but the reporter was frozen out after the sergeant watched him block up the memorial hours without any sensational developments. Every policeman on the beat was accosted, but positively refused to divulge the slightest inkling of that something which was exciting the entire police department. Then, probably thinking that the new-gatchers might be of material assistance, Lieutenant Hurley called them in.

Reporters Sworn to Secrecy.

"Before I say a word," said the lieutenant, "do you solemnly promise that you will not publish what is told you until the thing is ripe?"

"We do, sir," he was answered with one accord.

After a few explanatory remarks, and the assurance that the doors and windows were closed and every crevice plugged, Detective Darr ground out several dollars while the eyes of his spectators stuck out like peeled Vermont onions.

"That's our latest find," he remarked, when sufficient time had been given for the surprise created to wear away. "I concluded to try them, and I have thanked God daily since then that I did so. I used them for about three months, and by that time was completely cured and have never had any trouble since."

Must Have More Room.

In order to meet the increased demand for the Chase Bros. Pianos and to carry a complete assortment of all styles in rosewood, ebony, walnut and mahogany, and having just received a large shipment from our factory, to make room for them, we are offering greater bargains than ever made in the musical merchandise line.

All new goods to select from. No damaged stock. Banners, violins, guitars, accordions, harmonicas, at a great discount. We must have room for our large stock of pianos and will reduce our stock of small musical merchandise by offering these goods at greatly reduced prices.

CHASE BROS. PIANO CO.,
32 Monroe street.

Good Excuse.

Better than none. Our competitors are making lots of excuses just now to help sales. The quantity and quality of Hartman's stock of pianos, organs and musical merchandise, and sheet music speaks for itself, and the prices are all of the lowest. Call and be convinced.

One or a Day.

Twenty-five second-hand organs will be closed out as quickly as possible at J. A. J. Friedrich's music house, Nos. 30 and 32 Canal street. All are in good repair and those wishing a good instrument, at a low figure, should call at once.

Remenyi, Viol